

Changelog for Que Content Composer

If you're curious about what's new and exciting in Que Content Composer, then here's a quick overview of what you can expect to find...

November 2020

Two new exciting updates:

Dragging and Reordering Content. You can now reorder the questions and prompts.

Additional page sizes. A variety of page sizes have been added to export to in all formats.

500 New Journal Prompts

The first and most exciting change with Que Content Composer is that we've added 500 new writing and journal prompts. You can easily inspire your audience and encourage them to dig deep with these questions.

As part of the 500 new prompts, we've added four new categories including...

- Emotions > Grief
- Self-Reflection > Mindfulness
- Spirituality > Law of Attraction
- Writing & Creativity > Creativity

The following categories have also been updated with 50-100 new journal prompts, so you have plenty of fresh questions to share with your community....

- Self-Reflection > Goal Setting
- Financial & Business > Business
- Self-Reflection > Self-Esteem

Over A Dozen Fonts

Along with the additional prompts, more fonts have also been added. You can now choose between 14 fonts including standard ones (such as Arial and Georgia) as well as decorative ones (such as Precious and BlackChancery).

To make it easy for you to use these fonts, they've been pre-loaded into the Que Content Composer software. But you'll also find them available for download in your members' area. This means you can use the fonts in Microsoft Word or PowerPoint as needed.

Updated Margins

The margin area has been updated as well. You can now make pages with margins that are much larger. If you've been converting your standard page into KDP size then the margins are going to make your job so much simpler!

Increased Writing Lines

Many of our users requested additional writing lines and we've listened! You can now set your writing prompts to feature up to 12 blank lines (or if you're feeling daring, none at all!).
